Hello,

How is it possible that the DOJ agreed to this settlement? I thought you guys were out to punish Microsoft, compensate the harmed competitors, partners, and customers, and then place effective blocks to the sort of behaviour that got them in trouble.

The current settlement does nothing to punish MS for what it has done, completely forgets about all the people who were harmed by their behaviour, and completely misses the mark in its attempt to curb Microsoft's anticompetitive behaviour.

It seems you are turning a blind eye to MS.

Yours upset,
